

Trustee and Trust Administration

A trust is a method of holding and protecting assets, and can be used for many purposes such as providing a gift to a minor or ensuring for appropriate care and financial security of a spouse or disabled child. Selecting a trustee to manage the trust is a critical decision. We've been providing professional services and the administration of trusts for over 65 years. Our professional team is here to help when you need us.

Powers of Attorney and Property Guardianships

A power of attorney can grant authority to an appointed person or trust company that handles a person's financial affairs in the event of mental incapacity. For most individuals, this can be a time-consuming and often frustrating role. Even more time consuming and frustrating is when there's no power of attorney in place when incapacity occurs, requiring a lengthy and costly court application to have a guardian or committee named. Having a corporate attorney or guardian such as Concentra Trust gives you access to professional management services rather than relying on a family member or friend when the need arises.

Estates and Trusts

Administering an estate while grieving is an emotionally charged experience. Whether you are planning your own estate or dealing with a loved one's death, we offer a wide range of solutions for the effective planning and transfer of assets to the next generation.

We are committed to exceptional service. Here is what you can expect working with Concentra Trust for your estate and trust needs:

- invaluable assistance at a time of grieving
- help when family members are not local, willing or able to act
- impartial administration for complex family dynamics
- professional asset administration
- longevity of trustee relationship
- mitigation of personal liability for individual executors

Selecting the Right Executor

You've spent your lifetime acquiring and safeguarding assets. With the help of Concentra Trust, you can name your executor, plan your estate and ensure your assets are distributed according to your wishes. Keep in mind, naming a family member or friend as executor isn't always the best choice. In certain circumstances we recommend using the services of a corporate executor. Why? Because dealing with complicated duties, probate matters, claims and debts can be overwhelming. The list of duties is long, and there is the potential for personal liability that can be incurred by executors. We can handle all of that, in an impartial, efficient and caring manner.

Executors and Estate Administration

Being named an executor is a serious commitment. It can be a new and challenging experience, often charged with emotion and complicated by the process of grieving. Where do you begin? Concentra Trust can offer executors a little or a lot of help, whatever is needed at the time. Our team is professional, compassionate and understanding. Together we will focus on the things that matter most.

Executor EASE

Executor EASE is a flexible, affordable solution that allows executors to choose as much assistance as they need to administer an estate. It begins with a no-cost, no-obligation consultation with a trust consultant. During the consultation, they'll work with the executor one-on-one to understand the complexities and needs of the estate and will provide a variety of appropriate options.

We work with teams of legal and estate professionals across Canada to provide assistance with preparation of the probate application or all of the executor's duties.

Our team works with estates of all sizes and we can be retained at any time during the estate settlement process.

We offer a no-cost, no-obligation consultation.
